THE GAZETTE.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 3.

A WONDERFUL ESCAPE. Sunday night last, some fool-hardy daredevil came very near getting himself killed, and frightened to death a son "des Deutchen Vaterland," in attempting to perpetrate a pleasant j ke on the college bell by removing the clap-per thereirom. The harum-scrarum joker climbed a five-story lightning rod, scrambled over a wet, slippery roof through pitch darkness, and, doubtless, with thoughts more elevated than at any other time during the day, proceeded to business. Only half the cold, disagreeable task was done, when, lo! the wooly ca pur of the junitor appeared on the scene, that vigilant worthy having noiselessiy ascended by a stairway within. With no great amount of meditation and little soliloquizing, the reckless individual proceeded rather uncer moniously to demoli-h Herr Zeiner's lantern, and test his scent for powder. Herr Z iner knocked his pistol from his hand, and, in the scuffle that ensued, throw the luckless joker from the bell room to the roof, some ten feet below.

Instead of sliding off the treacherous roof, as any well regulated individual of ordinary good fortune would have done, he seized the lightning rod, near which he fell and swung himself over the eaves, the janitor shooting at him in the meantime. Zeiner was sure he had hit him, and rang the bell as if half the town was on fire, in order to have some one pick up and take care of the body; he himself being so badly scared that he mixed up his Eaglish and German in the most unintelligible manner. A large number of citizens and students soon assembled, and a deputation of the most courag eous proceeded dolefully around the corner of the building to carry in the corpse. They returned bearing among them bitter disappointment instead of the dead body, which had very unkindly absented itself. The janitor insists that he hit him, and blood on the lightning rod and the wall is his assurance.

A hat and a pistol are at the Mayor's office awaiting their claimant. After all, it is only a trivial matter; but it created quite a sensation and is the chief topic of conversation about town. In view of the facts that the daring fellow climbed at least seventy feet of cold, rough lightning rod, no easy task under the most favorable circumstances that the two scuffled with might and main in a little room ten teet square with only a low, rotten railing between them and stone steps seventy feet below; that the scamp was thrown out upon the slippery, treacherous roof of singles, a target to pistol balls, and that excited as he must have been, he swung himself over the long projecting eaves and descended safely-the whole thing is a remarkable feat, and the escape of the principal from serious, if not fatal, injury is a little less than miraculous .- | Greencastle Indiana, Letter in the Indianapolis Sentinel.
